Conference Overview:

These day-long symposiums will highlight current topics about the care of seniors, with an emphasis on future issues facing seniors and their caregivers, presented by a host of leading experts in the field of eldercare. The presentations and panel discussions will provide professionals who work with the elderly an opportunity to learn valuable information, network with their peers and gain a better understanding of eldercare issues. Attendees will gain knowledge and skills that will enable them to help seniors and their families navigate through the difficult issues involving the aging process.

Presentation Proposals*:

You are invited to submit a proposal for a 75-minute breakout session on a topic related to the care and treatment of seniors. The one-hour presentation should be interactive, emphasize education and skill building for the eldercare professional and can include topics such as: Financial Issues, Eldercare Options, Housing, Healthcare, Elder Abuse, Technology, Medicare/Medicaid, Palliative/Hospice Care. Presentations should be based on research or theory. Fifteen minutes should be allotted for Q & A following the presentation. Presentations pre- approved for CEU hours (social and cultural competence) for social workers and other licensed professionals will be given serious consideration. Please note: There will be no compensation offered for any breakout session presentations

Audience:

The symposiums will be attended by social workers, nurses, marketing directors, administrators, attorneys and other eldercare professionals desiring an opportunity to examine the direction that caring for our elders is headed.

Conference Format

Each symposium will begin with an expert panel discussing the current landscape of eldercare. Next, Mr. van Hal will provide a dynamic look at dementia villages he has created in the Netherlands and discuss how his concepts can impact eldercare in the United States. Following lunch, there will be breakout sessions concentrating on forward-thinking care and treatment options for the elderly.
